Oak Class have been concentrating very hard on learning times tables and have learnt the formal methods of short and long multiplication.

They have been finding out about the Blitz in World War II and created some super pictures of London in the war. They tried making different tones of red and yellow using white and black to mix and then applied chalk for searchlights. They then learnt how to create silhouettes from black paper to create a dramatic scene.

Oak Class are also learning about animals and habitats. They explored the woods to look for mini-beasts. We will be doing this again in spring and summer to compare results. It was a bit cold!
